

The Zodiac as an elemental fractal and the alchemy of planets

Reasons

- The reasons why I looked at investigating the Zodiac
- To make sense of life events
- To prove that it wasn't a foolish belief
- To know how to decide between techniques
- To reinforce the rare psychic events

Astrological Assumptions

- The signs are the most correct thing
- Elements match what the signs are
- Conjunctions are a definite thing
- Transits of planets work – change happens
- Examples are many and very convincing

What is there?

- Truth and numbers
- Leibniz' Law
- A realization of “the rule” of emergence : all things are relationships

Sameness & Difference

- Paradox causes something new
- Greater difference leads to greater emergence
- Also greater improbability

Elements as Abstract Relationships

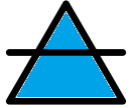

- The nature of elements as the abstract

Fire – Objective sameness, other whole

Earth – objective difference, other parts

Air – Subjective difference, “my” parts

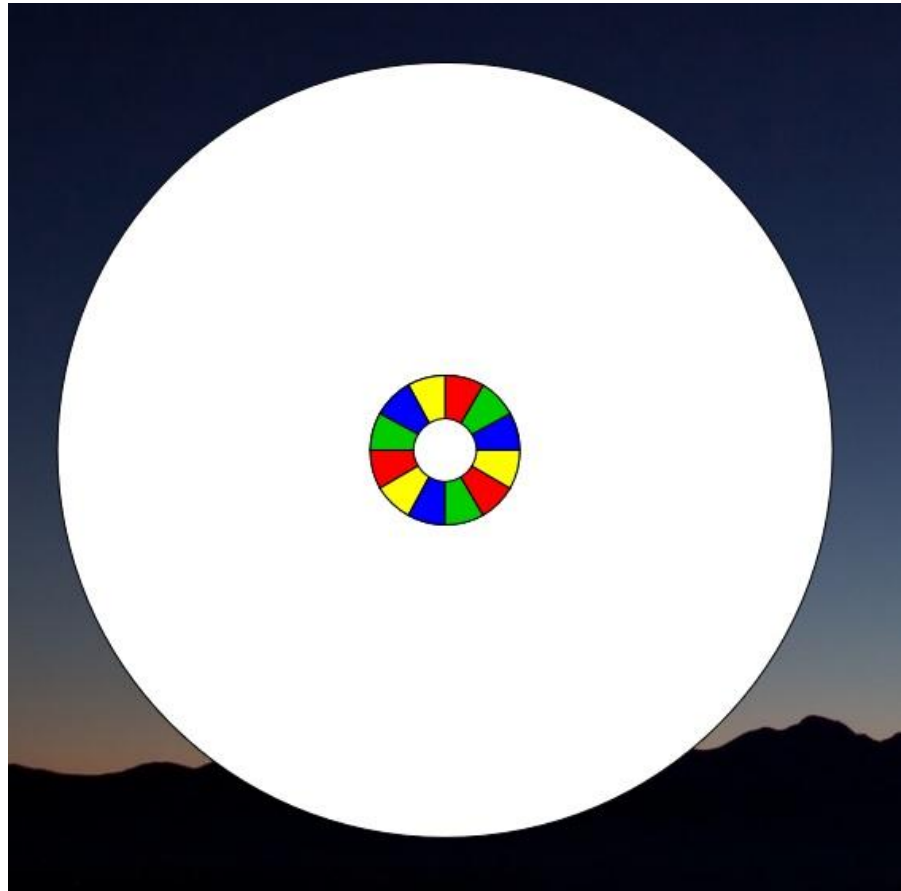

Water – Subjective sameness, “my” whole

Creating the Mandala

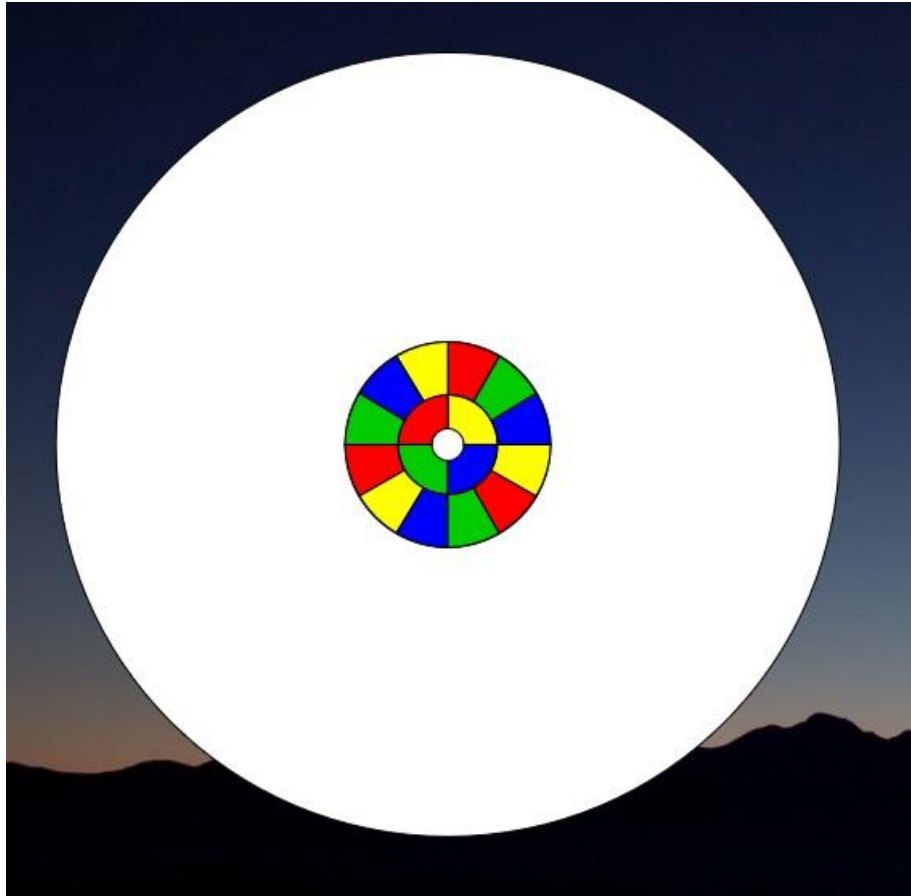

- Starting with zodiac signs, a fractal pattern emerges from things changing
- The only way that it could be, otherwise everything remains the same
- Every possibility of change
- Mandala - a map of Heaven

Starting with 12 signs

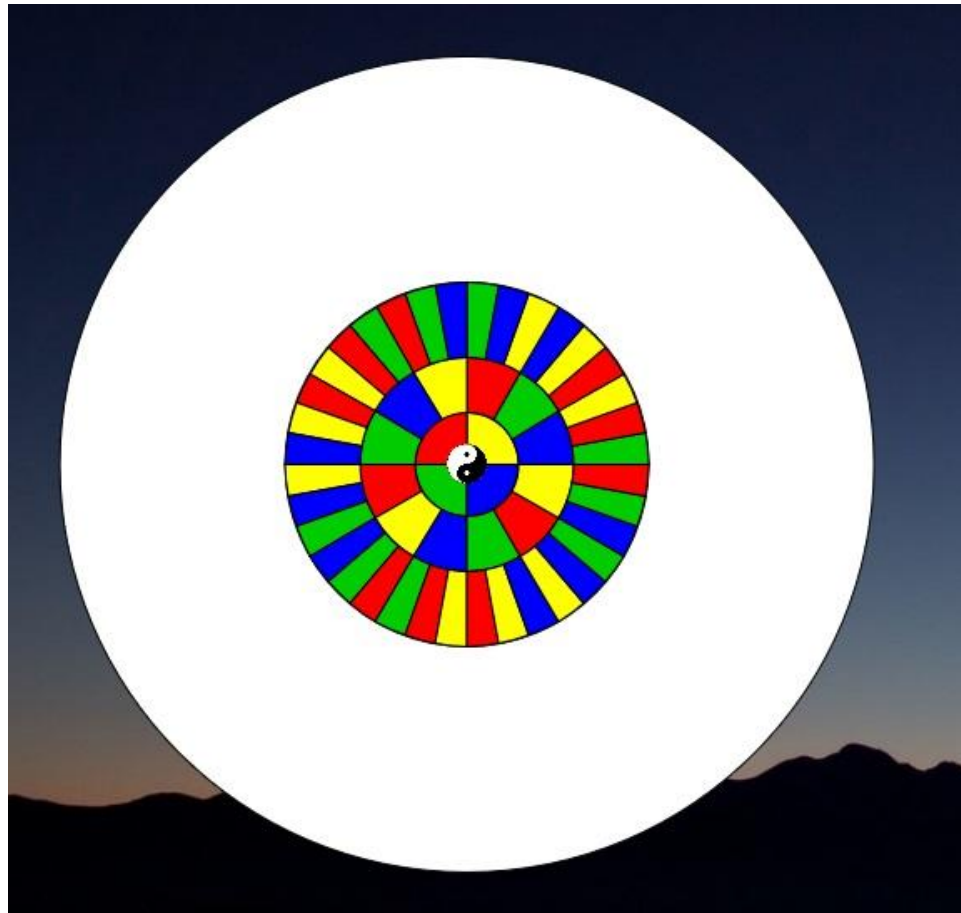

Signs are the abstract of external many-to-many relationships

4 Quadrants

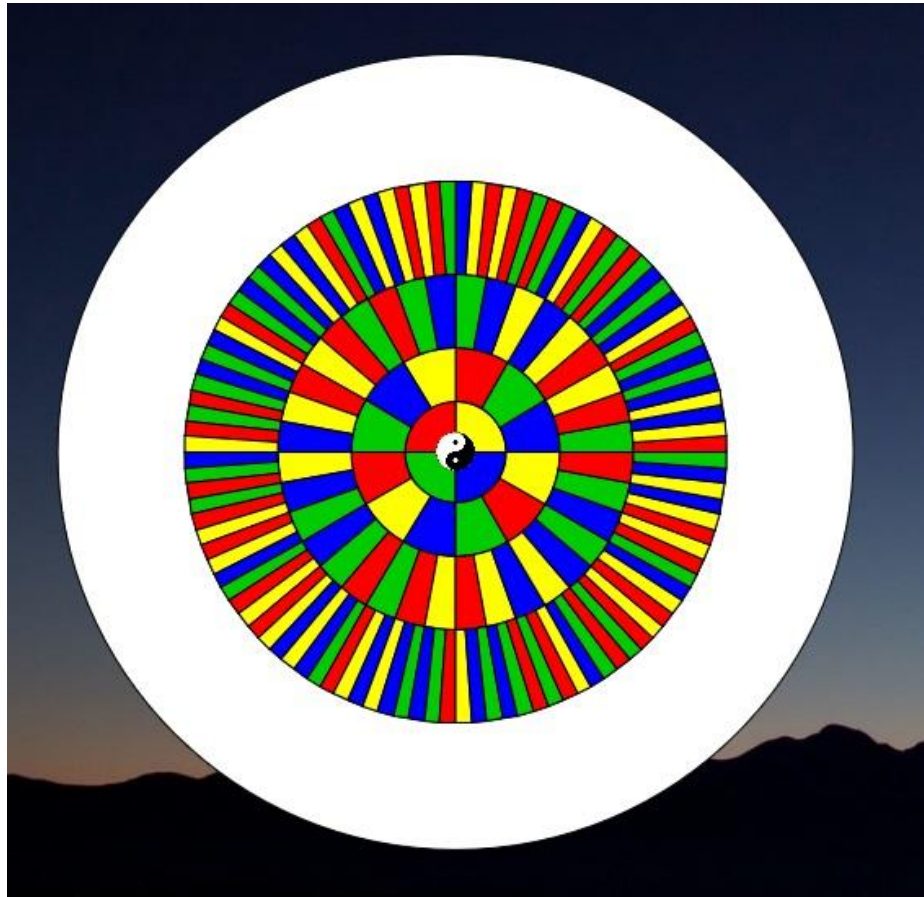

Quadrants are simply the abstract elements

36 Decans

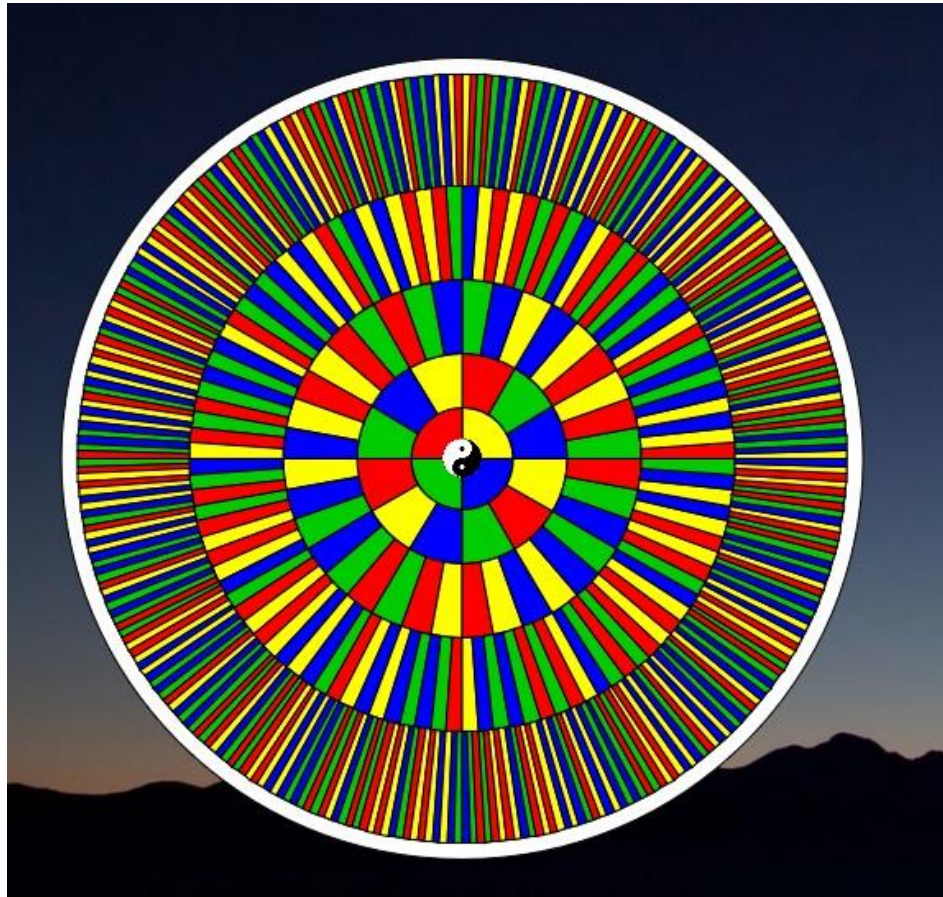

Decans are the abstract of external one-to-many relationships

108 Tridegrees

Tridegrees are the abstract of external one-to-one relationships

324 Degrees

Degrees are the abstract of internal one-to-many relationships

First point

- Tropical Zodiac not the Sidereal Zodiac
- First point of Aries or Cancer or any other cardinal sign

Gods

- Elements as Titans – Connection
- The planets as alchemy – Change
- The planets as chakras
- Dan Tien

Chakras - Planets

Alchemy

Direct and retrograde

Dignities

- Based on the weather ?

or

- Alchemy same as elemental pattern

This shows the planet as 'fed' its element throughout the sign and as producing the element of the sign, or any sector

Contention with Tradition

- Water Quadrant – self (feeling)

Venus

Taurus

Earth

Mars

Gemini

Mercury

- Earth Quadrant – mind (input data)

Earth (houses)

Contention with Tradition (cntd.)

- Earth Quadrant – real (things)

	Libra	Air		Saturn
	Scorpio	Water		Chiron
	Sagittarius	Fire		Jupiter

- Fire Quadrant – invisible (truth, facts)

	Capricorn	Earth		Pluto
	Aquarius	Air		Uranus
	Pisces	Water		Neptune

Aspects

- Mundane (manifest changes)
as with Houses
- Elemental (abstract of changes)
at every level
- Approaching (causal)
- Departing (consequential)
- Adjacent (close but hidden)
a new one, not cazimi, not even a conjunction

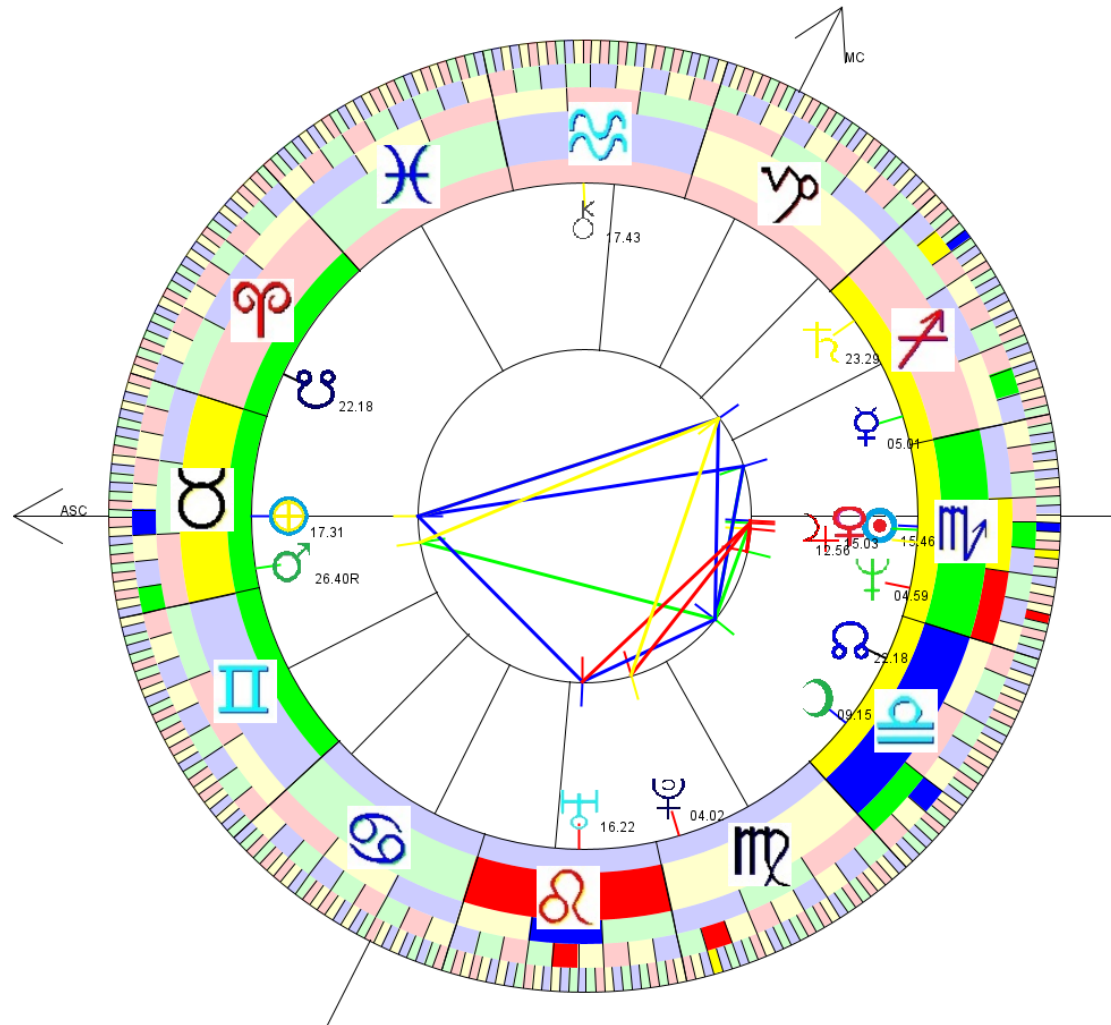

Aspects in practice

- What value is an orb?
- Transits by Ingress, the applicability of sectors to aspects
- Emergence of any combination
- Greater likelihood of less difference causing a greater constraint on probabilities → less emergence, more concentration

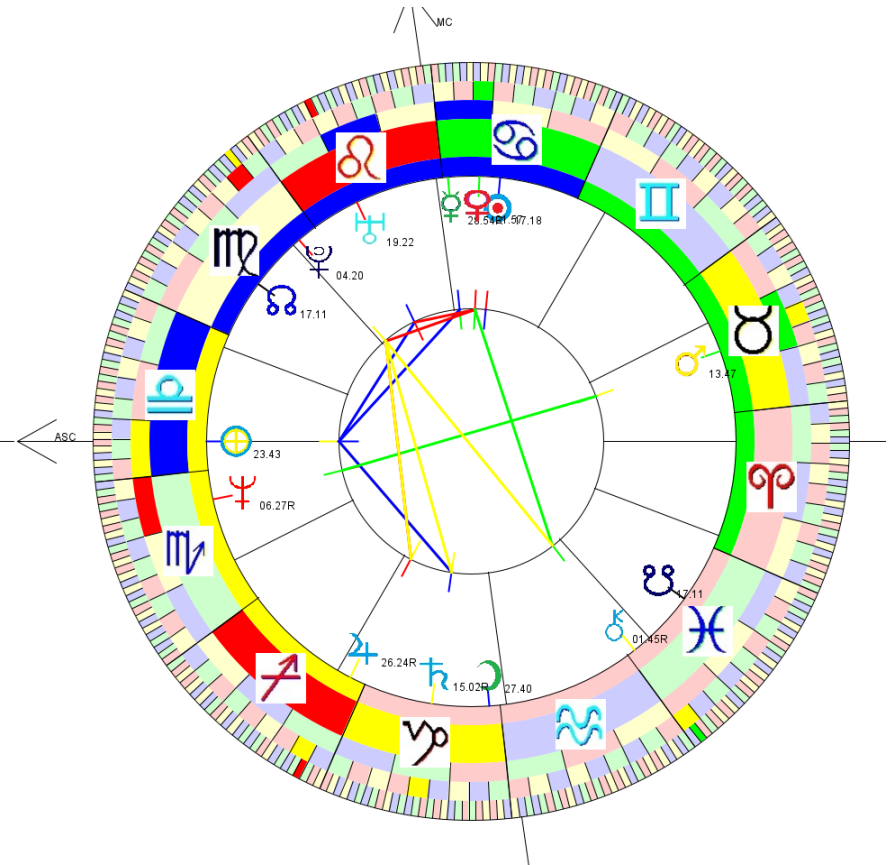

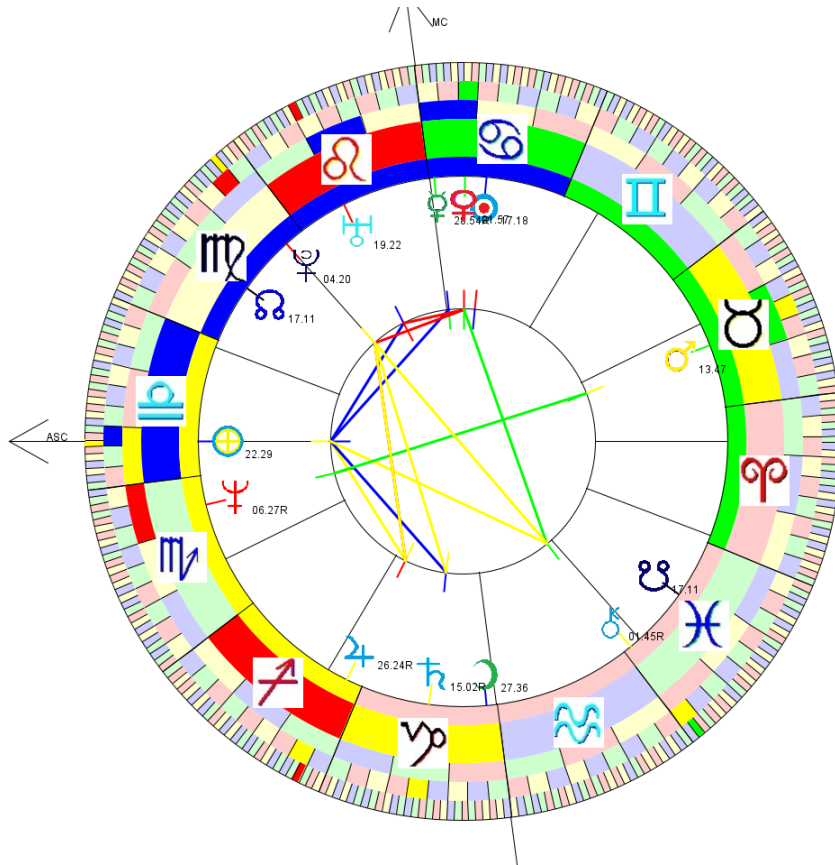

Examples

- Gareth Bale – Madrid v Liverpool
- Nasty Ed and Augusta his mum
- Paula Yates
- Aron's arm
- Mum and Dad, Nietzsche and Salome
- Me and Mars

By-products of investigation

- Emergence – Virtualism and Iconism
- Space – the differences
- Light – change as transference of energy
- Gravity – the consequence of other changes
- Time – the apparent sequence of change

Continuation of spirit

- Certain as Taxes
- The rule is that things only change because some paradoxical situation forces them to become different
- The whole of a thing is simply a virtual truth, the facts of the matter, and these are what remain when our bodies are subtracted and recycled
- Quiet, but together – still changing

Life Lessons

- Birth is a starting point
- Consciousness brings both love and hate
- Will is free within the self
- Actions bring consequences
- We are here to make decisions
- Death is not the end
- Rebirth is evidenced and rational, so true
- Justifies Astrology as not capricious
- Shows life to be a privilege

NOT THE END
